Oyster Supper Tonight.

Everyone will have an opportunity to eat oysters this evening. The Junior Sewing Circle of the Congregational church will give an oyster supper at the home of Mrs. Wm. McGriff, on Volusia avenue, commencing at 5 o'clock. The bi-valves will be served in all styles.

Will Face Two Wives.

The Volusia County Record of DeLand, in its issue of last week, says: Mrs. W. A. Patterson, of St. Augustine, wife No. 1, was at DeLand last week visiting Mrs. W. A. Patterson, wife No. 2. Both of these ladies will appear in court at Palatka this month against the bigamist, W. A. Patterson, who has been in jail at that place since last spring under the charge of bigamy. The two wives are going to do what they can to send this scoundrel to the "pen."

A Business Change.

Maxwell Hankins last Saturday purchased the interest of I. G. Bradley in the Atwood Pharmacy, and Mr. Hankins is now the sole owner. These two gentlemen purchased the business from Wm. Atwood about a year ago, and have both made many friends since they became residents of Daytona. Mr. Hankins will conduct the business, and will be assisted by James Simonds. Mr. Bradley has not yet definitely decided just business he will enter or where he will locate.

Making Many Improvements.

J. L. Odum, the hustling proprietor of the Northern Meat Market, situated on North Beach street, has been making many improvements in his place of business. He has had the partition taken out of the building so as to give all the room in the lower story to the market. The room is now 24x40 feet. Mr. Odum informs us that he expects a large refrigerator in a couple of weeks, and when it is installed he will have not only the nicest market in Daytona, but the finest on the East Coast.

Kitchen Has Escaped.

V. E. Kitching, who a couple of months ago was sentenced to the county chain gang for dispensing "red-eye" in Waycross, last week escaped from the authorities. He was working with the gang on the road between DeLand and DeLeon Springs under the supervision of Sheriff Bennett, when he made a break for liberty, and escaped. Kitching was serving out a six months' sentence. Sheriff Turner has sent his photograph and description to officers in all parts of the State, and feels very confident that the offender will be apprehended. He was in Daytona two or three days, but the colored people kept him in hiding.

A Mexican Afternoon.

Mrs. Harriet C. Willaume entertained the History Class and a few other invited guests—about 30 in all—yesterday afternoon at her home on North Beach street. When the guests had all assembled they were informed it was to be a "Mexican" afternoon. They were given a game from Mexican history, after thirty minutes devoted to it, other games followed and at the end of a given time the prizes, which came from Mexico, were awarded. Dainty Mexican refreshments were served, followed by ice cream and "Margarittes." As dark drew near the guests commenced to leave, all declaring Mrs. Willaume a true Mexican hostess.

The Mayor's Tribunal.

Mayor Smith has not had many offenders before his court recently. Tuesday, however, Marshal Zuber made two arrests, and justice was dispensed to the offenders. Moses Bowens, a kettle-headed citizen of Midway, imbued too freely of the liquid that inebriates and as a result became very disorderly. He was assessed $3 and costs.

John Mayes, another colored citizen, bought the whiskey for Bowens, and after getting him "loaded" is alleged to have robbed him. There was no evidence to support the latter assertion, and the Mayor could not hold him on that charge. He was relieved of $13 by the Court, however, for procuring the whiskey. The city has no temperance ordinance, hence there is no way to punish the person who sold the whiskey, unless the State takes the matter up.

The Stork Pays a Visit.

The traditional Stork, who who daily carries so much that is sweet and so much that is gratifying, and at the same time very troublesome and noisy, to many happy homes, paid a visit to the domicile of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Edwards Tuesday morning and a bright-eyed baby girl of eight pounds, avoiding pois, is receiving a great deal of attention at that home, and Mr. Edwards is receiving congratulations from every one.

Those Cows Again.

George H. Foote woke up Monday morning to find that a number of cattle had been in his yard during the night and damaged his orange trees to a considerable extent. The cows which are ranged south and west of Daytona are getting to be a nuisance to everyone who has a garden or a lawn, and if they were all sent to the "demerolion law-rens" there would be many pleased persons in the city.

Will Buy Church Bell.

The Junior Circle of the Congregational Church are planning to purchase a bell for the edifice, and the proceeds of the oyster supper tonight will go to assist the fund. They now have $60 on hand and are endeavoring to make the amount $300, which is the amount required to get the bell. The Junior Circle is an organization of young ladies between the ages of twelve and eighteen years. The association is officered as follows: Mrs. Jerome D. Moley, superintendent, Bessie Bingham, president, Ed Gilman, treasurer, Hazel Stirling, secretary. The young ladies are working hard and should be encouraged in every way to accomplish their object.

Peran Trees for Sale.

Columbia and Pasco varieties, on blackberry stock, raised by E. N. Waldron, Jacob Slough, Agent.

Wedded Fifty Years.

Tuesday was the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Rev. and Mrs. James Stanton, of Ormond. That evening about 100 of their friends marched in upon them to celebrate the occasion. Prayer was offered by Rev. E. W. Butler, pastor of the Congregational church, after which he read a beautiful poem adapted to the occasion, pledged anew the marriage vows, and supplemented the whole by presenting in behalf of the friends a purse of $50 in shining gold as a token of respect for the aged couple. Mr. Stanton replied with much feeling a few appropriate remarks, after which the evening was spent in social chat and partaking of light refreshments. The company retired at an early hour, all happy in making others happy.

Did Not Swallow Her Wrath.

Col. M. Huston relates a very funny incident that he saw while attending the Jacksonville Carnival last week. A grizzled face woman was hurrying along the street when a shower of mud rained down on her head. The woman wrinkled still more and she turned to upbraid the offender. Just as she began a laughing girl threw a handful of mud straight as an arrow into the grizzled woman's mouth. Small as the good-natured person at the same time yelled: "Swallow the mud, honey, swallow the green." The woman's face at the time assumed the appearance of a blue cloud. She was carrying an armful of groceries and these she let fall near by stander's feet and declared that a policeman showed her the wrong way.
